UNIVERSITY OF GHANA
(All rights reserved)
DEPARTMENT OF TEACHER EDUCATION
SCHOOL OF EDUCATION AND LEADERSHIP
COLLEGES OF EDUCATION
END OF SEMESTER TWO EXAMINATION FOR LEVEL 200, 2024/2025
B.ED. PROGRAMME

COURSE CODE: TEJS 248
COURSE TITLE: POLITICAL HISTORY OF GHANA AFTER INDEPENDENCE

SECTION A
ANSWER ALL QUESTIONS

1. The 1966 coup was very significant in Ghana's political development because it
   A. Ended colonial influence permanently
   B. Interrupted Ghana's economic development
   C. Established a precedent for military interventions in politics
   D. Improved democratic accountability and regional integration

2. The Progress Party devalued the cedi by 44% against the dollar purposely to
   A. Correct the fundamental disequilibrium in the balance of payments
   B. Make the cedi strong and attractive
   C. Make the Progress Party popular, declared freedom of the state press
   D. Relieve Ghana from excessive inflation

3. The Preventive Detention Act (1958) under Nkrumah generated strong opposition despite claims of national security because it
   A. Limited parliamentary debates
   B. Was only used against foreigners
   C. Violated fundamental human rights
   D. Allowed local chiefs to arrest political opponents

4. All the following are reasons that led to the fall of the Busia administration, except the
   A. Crippling of the army
   B. Enactment of the Avoidance of Discrimination Act
   C. Devaluation of the cedi in December, 1971
   D. Unpopular policy of dialogue with apartheid South Africa

5. Nkrumah's Economic Recovery Programme (ERP) challenged the original ideals of the 1960 Republican Constitution by
   A. Expanding social welfare, economic development and national programs
   B. Restoring traditional authorities
   C. Promising capitalist restructuring over socialist planning
   D. Removing presidential powers

6. Which of the following factors most contributed to Ghana's peaceful transition of political power in 2000?
   A. Decline of military influence and social development
   B. Presence of international election observers
   C. Legal reforms by the Electoral Commission
   D. Political maturity and acceptance of electoral outcomes

7. The 1992 Constitution is considered a turning point in Ghana's democratic history because it
   A. Reintroduced a monarchy, democracy and the rule of popular parties
   B. Replaced military tribunals with the Supreme Court
   C. Introduced multiparty elections in Ghana
   D. Marked a shift from authoritarian to participatory governance

8. Ghana's participation in the ECOWAS peacekeeping missions influenced its international reputation because it
   A. Reduced the military budget
   B. Enhanced Ghana's image as a regional stabilizer
   C. Led to internal political instability
   D. Decreased foreign investment

9. Which of these leadership styles best describes Nkrumah's governance during the First Republic?
   A. Participatory and liberal
   B. Authoritarian and centralist
   C. Consultative and laissez-faire
   D. Decentralized and traditional

10. The 1979 AFRC-led "house-cleaning" exercise affected Ghana's civil-military relations because it
   A. Led to deeper collaboration between the military and civilians
   B. Restored the multi-party democracy and national elections
   C. Created distrust between the public and the military
   D. Removed the police from security duties

11. The key rationale behind the "Operation Feed Yourself" campaign under Acheampong was to
    A. Reduce dependence on food imports
    B. Promote capitalist ideology
    C. Expand foreign direct investment
    D. Justify land redistribution

12. The Fourth Republic is different from earlier political dispensations because it
    A. Introduced an unlimited Presidential term
    B. Placed the Judiciary and Ghana's parliament under military control
    C. Enables competitive elections and peaceful handovers
    D. Prevented chiefs from parliamentary decisions

13. Dr. Kwame Nkrumah advocated Pan-Africanism as central to Ghana's foreign policy to
    A. End British influence in Ghana
    B. Gain favour from Western powers
    C. Encourage tribal self-rule
    D. Achieve African unity

14. The alternation of power between NDC and NPP in Ghana since 1992 reflects
    A. A maturing multiparty democracy
    B. An authoritarian regime
    C. A weak party system but growing democracy
    D. Tribal-based politics

15. Rawlings' PNDC regime later transitioned to constitutional rule in 1992 because
    A. International aid was dependent on democratic governance
    B. The military refused to support him
    C. The National House of Chiefs advised him to do so
    D. The judiciary demanded it

16. Ghana's Second Republic was toppled in 1972 partly because it
    A. Lacked educated politicians
    B. Gave excessive power to traditional rulers
    C. Introduced economic hardship
    D. Prevented many citizens from voting

17. The Supreme Military Council was unpopular by the late 1970s because it
    A. Limited multiparty elections to few parties
    B. Was seen as incapable of managing the economy
    C. Banned activities of trade unions
    D. Did not take steps to promote free education

18. Ghana's Fourth Republican elections in 2000 marked a democratic milestone because
   A. The Military for the first time elected a military officer as president
   B. Peaceful transition occurred between political parties
   C. Rawlings contested for a third term as an army officer
   D. It was the most patronized election since independence

19. Which one of the following is a major achievement of Ghana's 1992 Constitution?
   A. Introduction of a two-party state
   B. Return of Rawlings and John Mahama to power
   C. Guarantee of fundamental human rights
   D. Legalization of military rule

20. The leadership quality of John Kufuor that enhanced Ghana's international image was
   A. Interest in the school feeding programme
   B. Commitment to regional integration
   C. Abolition of the Criminal Libel Law
   D. Appointment of lawyers and degree holders

21. Which of these happened following Acheampong's Union Government proposal?
   A. His removal through palace coup
   B. Return to colonial rule
   C. Reshuffle of his Regional Commissioners
   D. Formation of a new cabinet

22. How did the 2008 electoral process deepen democratic practices in Ghana?
   A. Ghana conducted a credible runoff
   B. All parties praised conduct of the elections
   C. Voter apathy increased
   D. Parliament wholly accepted the results

23. What does the history of coups in Ghana portray about the relationship between governance and economic stability?
   A. Coup periods were marked by economic growth
   B. Civilian governments reduced corruption
   C. Economic decline often caused military coups
   D. Efforts were not made to end military rule in Ghana

24. Ghana has been considered as a model of democracy in Africa since 1992 because of
   A. Absence of political opposition
   B. Regular peaceful transitions and rule of law
   C. Abolition of the ban on media criticism
   D. Military interest and participation in elections

25. Which of the following best evaluates the political legacy of Dr. Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana?
A. He failed completely from 1960 to 1966
B. Nkrumah preached democracy from 1952 but became a dictator in 1966
C. There was development and unity but also autocracy
D. His regime prioritized only foreign, especially African issues

SECTION B

ANSWER ANY THREE QUESTIONS

1. Discuss the causes and consequences of the 1966 coup d'état in Ghana.
2. What role did Jerry John Rawlings play in shaping Ghana's political landscape from 1979 to 2000?
3. Critically analyze Ghana's transition to the Fourth Republic in 1992 and its impact on democratic consolidation in Ghana.
4. Examine political ideologies of the CPP, NDC, and NPP.
5. Assess Ghana's role in regional integration and pan- African politics from 1957 to the present.