TREE PLANTING

Ekupon is a small town in the Ajumako-Enyan-Esiam District. The people there are farmers. They grow both cash crops and food crops. There is only one Primary School there. It is Ekupon D/A Primary School. There is no Junior High School. Pupils who complete their P.6 Education continued at Bondzia Junior High School. The chief of Ekupon is Nana Kwesi Apaah. The queen is Nana Ekua Ntsifuah. Ten years ago, there was a rainstorm at Ekupon. The rain began in the afternoon. Later, there were strong winds. The rainstorms caused a lot of damage. The roof of the Primary School was blown off. Many houses also had their roofs blown off. Some mud houses collapsed after their roof had been ripped off. Trees were uprooted. Many food crops, especially, plantain and cassava were also destroyed. The assembly man for the town reported the rainstorm to the Honourable Light Kweekum. He was the DCE for the District. He came to see what the rainstorm had done.

Two days later, officers from NADMO came, and brought some items to the people. They brought roofing sheets and bags of cement. They gave them to those whose houses were destroyed by the rainstorm. They also gave them bags of rice and maize. The people began to repair their roofs. Those whose mud houses had been destroyed went to stay with their friends. Others stayed with their relatives.

The following year, the rainstorm was worse. Many houses were affected. The DCE and officers came to visit Ekupon again. They came with Mr. Anokwaa. He was the District Forestry Officer. Mr. Anokwaa blamed the rainstorm on lack of trees at Ekupon. Some young men in Ekupon use chainsaw to fell the trees and saw them into boards. They sell the boards to carpenters. Other young men also burn charcoal. They have cut many trees. Mr. Anokwaa explained to the people that the rainstorm would happen again. They have to plant trees. He said trees would reduce the speed of the strong winds. The rainstorms would not spoil their buildings and farms again when they do so.

Nana Apaah and his people agreed to plant the trees. First, the people used communal labor to clear a piece of land near the school. School children were asked to bring black soil. They also brought empty water sachets. They filled the empty water sachets with the black soil. Mr. Anokwaa and his workers brought them seeds to be nursed in the nursery. The seeds were teak, acacia, mango and oranges. They also brought watering cans. Every morning some School pupils in class 5 and 6 watered the seeds. Soon, the seeds began to grow. Mr. Anokwaa came back and showed the people how to transplant the seedlings.
